How I Went From Burnt Out At A "Real Job" To Making $75,000 In ONE Month By Posting “Silly Little TikToks” From The Moutnains (Without Any Business Experience, Without A Big Following, And Without Following The Path Everyone Told Me I Had To Take)

Hi, I'm Anne. You’ve probably just finished watching a video of me talking about how amazing TikTok Shop is and the freedom it gives you and you're here to figure out what it actually is, how it works, and whether a girl like you could really make money with it.

Perfect.

Here's what I'll cover:

1. What TikTok Shop is and how so many girls are making stupid money with it

2. Why creative, driven people who feel stuck on the wrong path (you) are built for this

3. Why it's the best way to start making money online right now

   Simple & easy

But first… here’s a little about me so you know im real + can see I was in the exact same spot as you no long ago

The journey for freedom began in college…

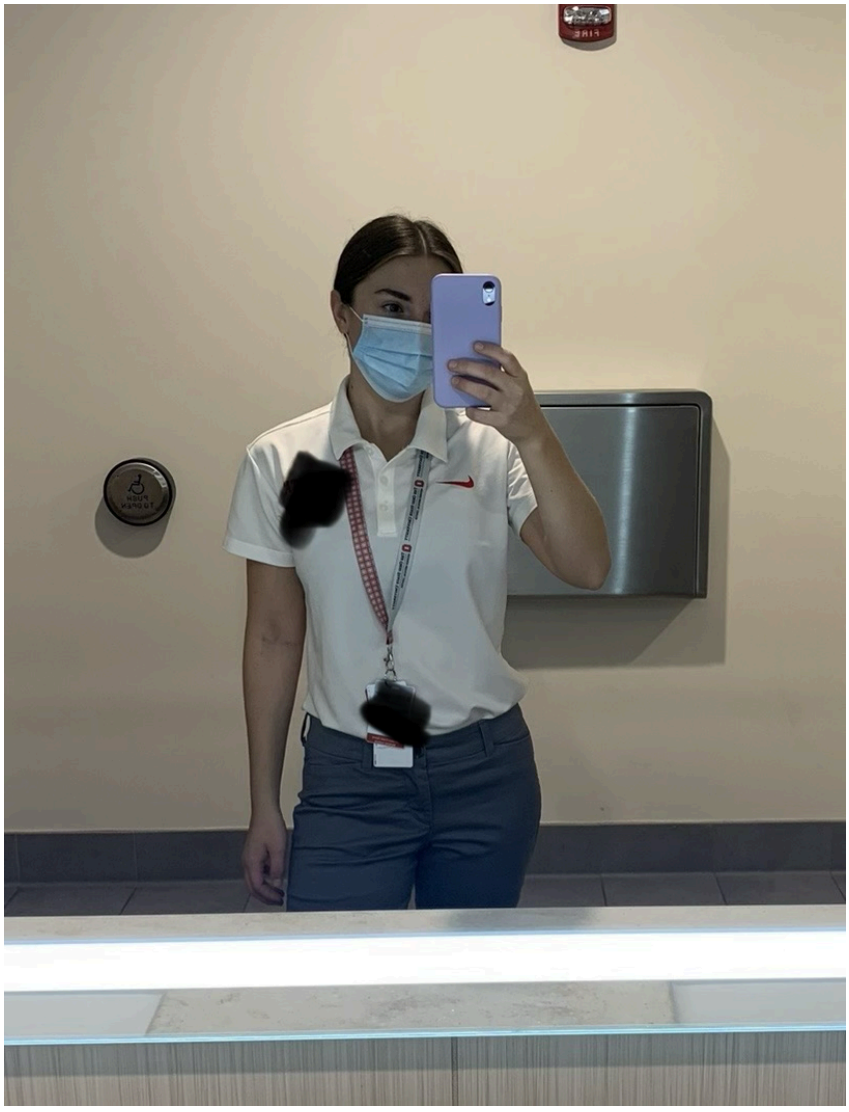

This isn't a traditional “success” story but I genuinely believe any girl can replicate it.

I was basically you. I have been in love with photography + the outdoors ever since I can remember. Hiking, camping, or any adventure that made me feel ALIVE and in the present moment. And even before I went to college, I already knew this is the type of lifestyle that fills my cup. Here’s me on one of my solo adventures:

So yes I desired to live life on my terms and explore God's creation. But unfortunately even budget traveling costs money, so I ended up going to college to get my degree while working as a life-guard. It was low paying but it's the only job I could find that let me choose my own hours (which allowed me to keep adventuring.)

I Then Got A Full-Time "Big Girl" Job As A Certified Athletic Trainer Using My Degree, Which Made Me Literally Hate My Life

Soon after graduating, I got a job as an Athletic Trainer for my college football team.

I thought I'd enjoy it because I could travel to new places as part of the job and lifeguarding already gave me some of the certifications I needed.

Was I right? Not one bit.

When I got there- I immediately realized that any “formal” employment was going to make me miserable. I REALLY wanted to figure out a way to make money online (not even a ton of it,) just enough to have the freedom to travel.

So as I was working 10-12 a day on my feet inside the clinic (only making $2500/month btw), I was researching every side hustle I could find. Until I eventually got so tired working under the surgeons that had zero respect for athletic trainers, & actually made the decision to figure out the online money thing forever.

I Then Decided It Was Time To Actually Commit to A Life I Wanted, But I Didn’t Know What The Best Option Was For Me. So I Started Researching

Long story short I knew if I worked a job I hated for any longer I would literally crash out, so I started researching online hustles. I looked at a TON of businesses fit for creative/ adventerous people, and when doing so, I realized this:

In order to make money with a BUSINESS, I needed a TON of skills that I didn’t realize I needed that I really just didn’t have the time (or patience) to learn. I had to:

1) Know how to create an actual product,
2) Know how to build all the tech required for me to actually be able to get the product up & online (im just a girl)
3) Do marketing for it
4) Build the sales process for it
5) Fulfill on it
6) Do all the customer service, accounting, refunds, taxes, etc.

I realized it was a LOT. And that really demotivated me for a bit, so I kept looking.

I then asked myself “jeez… is there anything where I don’t have to do all of this OTHER stuff...?” Is there another, simpler way to make money with my creativity?

So after looking at all of the different side hustles that girls on tiktok were selling to me, I realized I didn’t really want to do ANY of them.

Why?

Because they all looked too complicated, took too much time, and i didn’t even really trust any of the people that were selling it anyway.

I KNEW I needed a simpler way, and that’s when I learned one of my most important “money understandings” to date…

I realized “running a business” was actually way over complicating things, and I didn't HAVE to do that (nor did I really want to do all of that anyway)

One of the wildest realizations that I had while researching everything was that a “having a business” isn't even necessary for making money online

Why?

Because with a “business” you have to do 100 different things. And when I realized I could actually make money online without starting a business, just focusing on ONE skill (that a “real business” would pay for), everything started to click.

When I started out this whole freedom journey, I automatically thought “oh if I need to make money, I have to start/own a business!”. But that’s not actually true, because there are MANY ways to make money without owning an actual business, and when I fully realized this (and realized how much simpler this was than what everyone else was doing), I IMMEDIATELY started looking for what I could do that would allow me to simplify everything so i could make money as quickly as possible.

That’s When I Discovered UGC…

Now this is when it starts to get interesting & where the cash finally started coming in (but not without some issues at first, of course).

Eventually, I FINALLY found UGC. Now If you don’t know what UGC is, it’s just where you film videos of yourself using a company's products and sell it to them to use in their marketing. You basically just grab your phone, film some clips, send the video, and make money. It’s super simple.

But once I found out that UGC existed & was a thing, I originally got super excited for the money I could make (because I saw regular girls making $5k per month… $10k per month… even like $20k per month), but I was also hesitant for very different reasons:

1. I had never made a serious piece of content before (only fun stuff for my personal social media)

2. I didn’t have a following/audience so I didn't understand how i’d even get views

3. I didn’t want to be an influencer and really just wanted to have the freedom to travel

So because of these things (which you may be feeling as well), I ended up waiting on the sidelines for a bit working more odd jobs, but while I did, people way less creative than me were CONTINUALLY making thousands of dollars a month right in my face doing UGC. And because of this, and because I knew I could do it deep down if I just got over my B.S. fears, I actually ended up reaching out to someone and asked them about my concerns to see if I could actually just get over these issues & actually start making money online in the simplest way possible.

Here’s what I asked/what I was concerned about, and here’s what she said that put my fears to rest for good (and maybe you can relate). Just going to list out what I asked and what she said.

Me: “Can I actually do this & make money with this? I’ve never made a piece of social media content before in my life”

Them: Yep. Doesn’t matter. The skill of content is super easy to learn, and it’s the only thing you’ll actually need to learn, unlike a business where you need a massive skillset. Thousands of people less creative than you were able to learn it without any issues, so you'll be fine.

Me: "I don't have any followers or content experience, is that a problem?"

Them: Nope. You don't even post the videos yourself, just send them directly to the brand. As long as you learn how to make good content, they'll use the video, and you'll end up making good money.

Me: "I don't want to be an influencer / I don't want my friends seeing what I post"

Them: The good news is you won't become an influencer, you'll just learn to make the content. Plus you aren't posting any of this on your personal pages anyways.

Me: "I don't even think I have enough time with work"

Them: Most people do this after work and have zero issues. You only need about 1-3 hours per day, and can batch the videos & work it all into your schedule.

So after she answered all these for me, I realized it was pretty straightforward and there was nothing to worry about. So I said F it, and jumped in…

And to my surprise, once I jumped in, I actually started making money right away (but it still wasn't as much as I wanted to make)...

It was crazy. Basically AS SOON as I jumped in, I started making money right away. $500 here… $1k there… but nothing crazy. But even so, it worked.

For 2 full years I created UGC content and consistently made between $4k and $6k a month. I was finally able to travel WHENEVER I wanted (but you can probably relate to this), I was nowhere close to being able to afford any of my dream trips. I knew the potential to make money was much higher than what I was actually earning, because every time I opened my phone, I saw someone talking about hitting “$10k months” like it was a small milestone and I couldn't get there no matter how hard I worked.

This is also around the time I started to notice some massive flaws with UGC that no one tells you about:

1. UGC is mostly one-off deals, forever. You pitch yourself to the brand, do all the scripting, filming, and editing and get paid a couple hundred bucks and then have to start the whole process all over again.

2. Many of the brands were smaller startups that didn't have much budget and occasionally the sketchy ones wouldn’t even pay after I did all the work.

3. If my video was wildly successful for the brand I'd still only make $200-$300 while they were pocketing 10s of thousands. Super unfair

I knew there had to be a simpler, more stable way - one thing I could actually go all-in on instead of juggling a dozen low-paying clients and chasing the next deal.

My eyes had already been opened to the freedom and possibility of making money online so I wanted to utilize every resource that I had available to me to maximize it, and I realized doing everything alone was highly inefficient.

And That’s When I Discovered The One

Change to My Strategy That Paid Off BIG TIME

One day I was scrolling Twitter because there are a lot of UGC deals on there and I saw this dude in his flexing 20s that he made $175,000 in a single month on TikTok Shop. My mind was literally blown…

If you don't know about Tiktok Shop, TikTok Shop is essentially the same as UGC except you post the videos on TikTok and you earn a commission anytime someone buys the product from your video. This is huge because this means you have no earning limit, unlike UGC where you are capped at like $200 per video.

I looked at his twitter account and saw that like 20 of his friends were all PRINTING money every month. I'm talking about both guys and girls making $20k, $50k, even $100k every single month.

And if there's one lesson I learned after finally making money online, it's that creative people already HAVE the skills to make a bunch of money, they usually just suck at the business part of getting people to pay them… (its a weird psychological thing where we feel bad charging money for our work since we usually don't have a ton of money).

After seeing this, I desperately wanted to level up how much I was making from UGC. So I knew I needed a mentor/mentorship to help me. I mean, my logic was pretty simple.

My logic:

If this guy is making $100k/month doing basically the same thing as me… and he's just a normal person like me and probably isn't anywhere near as creative…

Then he clearly knows stuff I don't know and has secrets I don't have because he's doing stuff i'm not doing….

So why would I not just pay him to tell me what those are & help me/speed things up if they are offering it…

To me it was very simple logic. And it paid off ridiculously.

I found CC, Jumped In, & everything just took off (and I was finally to get my house in the mountains)

I kept seeing the $175k in a month guy tagging this community called "Creator's Corner" in a lot of his tweets so I assumed he was the owner and was trying to promote the group. But when I actually researched the group, I realized that it was run by a completely different guy named Jimmy Farley.

And when I realized that so many successful creators were part of this group & the reputation they had, this was the most obvious decision of my life.

My brain was like "you're telling me I can just pay some cash to surround myself with people making way more than me who are also willing to teach me everything they know?"

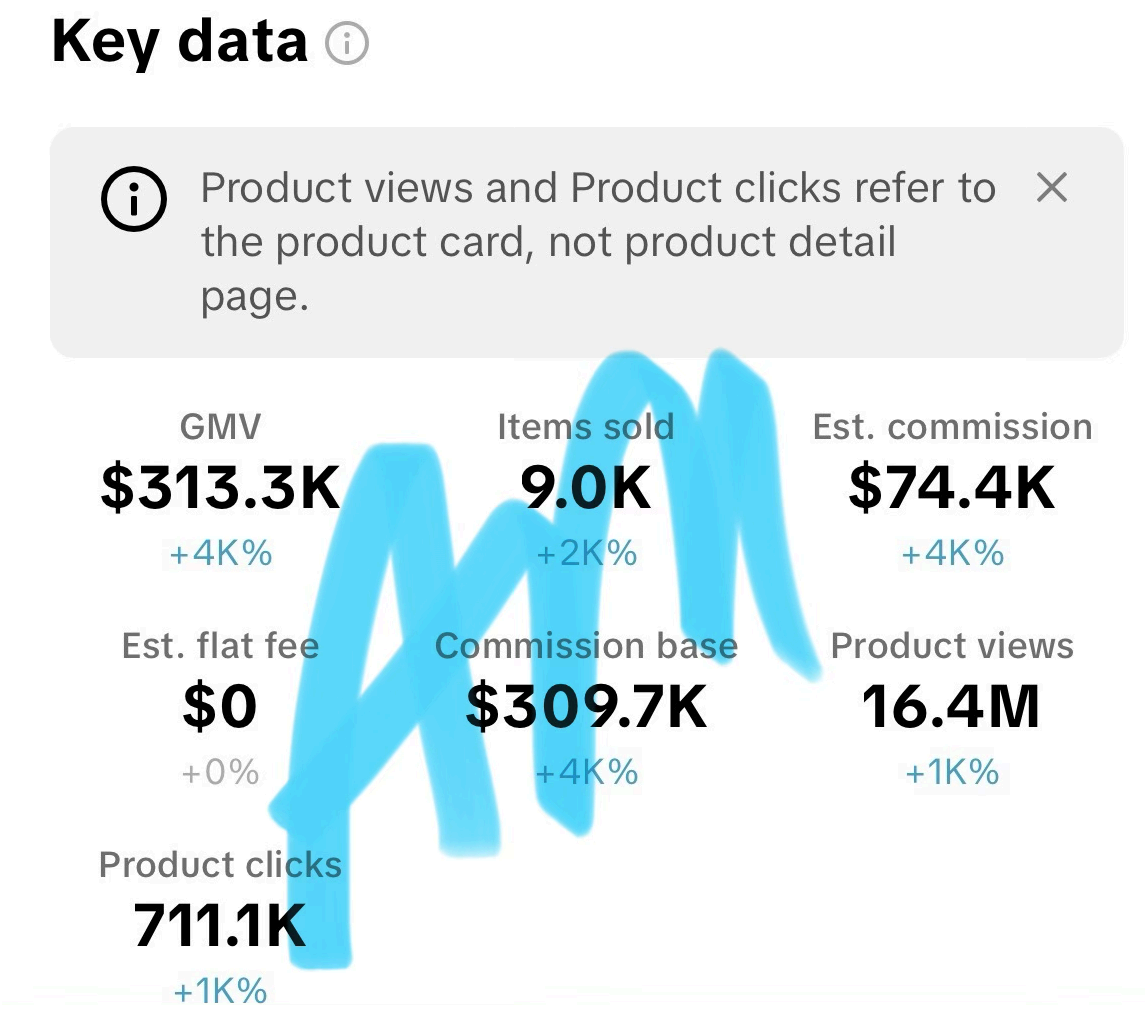

Yeah… count me in. So I joined.

And Wow… I can't underestimate how aggressively my progress took off after I joined CC.

Once I joined CC (Creator's Corner), it was basically like my income got strapped to a rocket-ship. They started giving me companies to work with that pay INSANE commissions on TOP of the flat fees just to MAKE the content. All the time I spent pitching brands went straight back into making MORE content and my income auto-exploded to $10kmo…. $15k/mo….. $20k/mo…..

And in my BEST month, I made over $75,000+ in 30 days. And a LOT of that credit was due to the Creators Corner mentorship & everything that it taught me. I was immediately surrounded by ambitious young people (many are now my super good friends), who all wanted to make money, and who WERE all making money, and when you're in the right environment and are learning from the right people… success is almost inevitable.

And because of this I was able to move to my dream house out west in the mountains and make adventuring officially part of my daily routine. Here's a couple pics I took from my BACKYARD:

I Then Met Another Girl In The Same Situation And After Joining CC SHE Now Makes $15k/ Month Working A Few Hours A Day

This is Astrid, a girl that joined Creators Corner not long after I did.

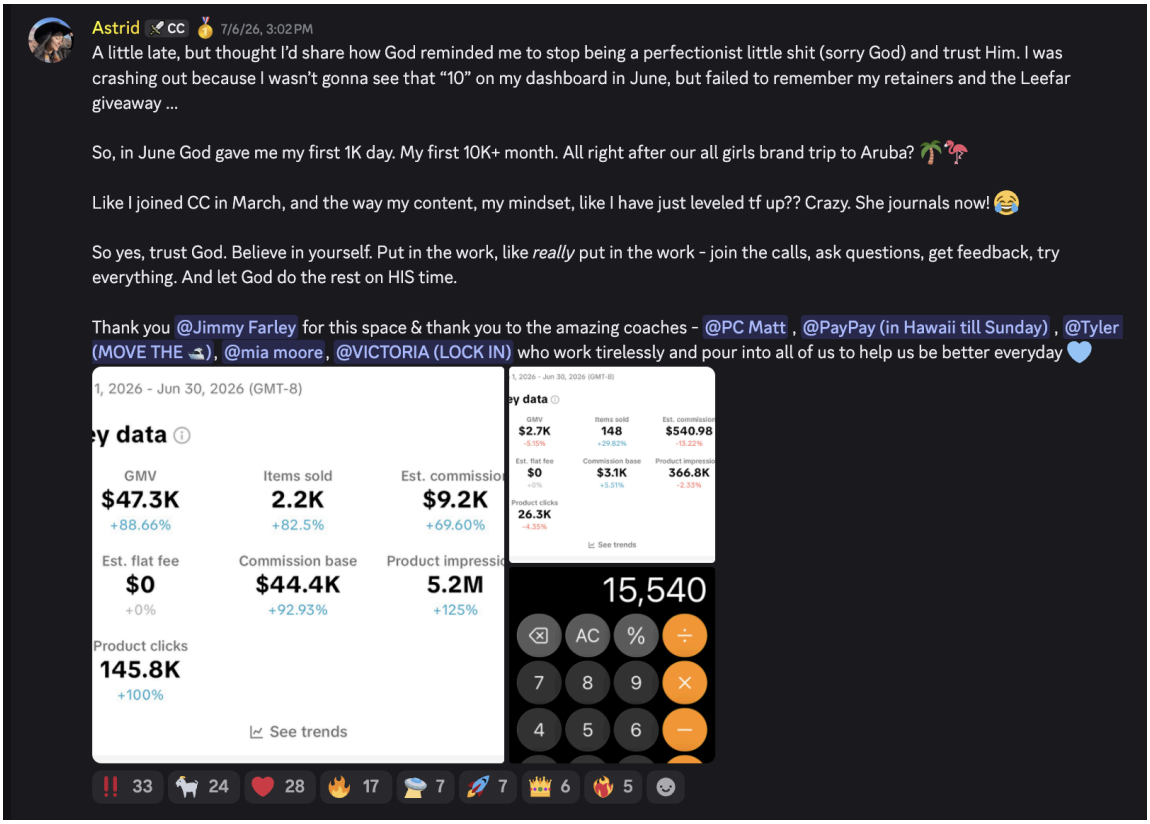

She’s on the right

Astrid had a very similar situation as me, she’s an outdoorsy girl and just wanted to make enough income online to live a calm quiet life of freedom. She had been let go from her job and started trying to make money online for a while doing UGC and even bought a course teaching her what to do but wasn’t having any luck making money.

When she saw so many regular people making $10k+/ month on TikTok Shop inside Creator’s Corner and how positive everyone inside the community was, she decided to reach out and join.

Long story short- she pretty much just followed the blueprint that CC gave her, and because of that, her income skyrocketed in just a few months.

She now makes $500-$1000 a day, doesn't have to worry about finding a new job, and has never felt happier/ closer to God.

Now…

At this point - I've seen THOUSANDS of girls try on their own and fail (including myself) - so let me quickly tell you about the biggest realization I had to make this ACTUALLY work, and why I think this realization will be super exciting to you.

Here it is:

All these totally normal people are getting rich off TikTok Shop.... which is why any girl that's naturally creative has a serious advantage…

Once I realized being good at TikTok Shop was literally just about having the right strategy and connections to monetize (and that it IS literally the difference between making $2k/month and $20k/month)... I began looking at everyone else's content around me… and there wasn't anyone who was especially gifted or special. They were just running the process Creator's Corner gave to them, and were making a bunch of money.

But after studying myself, I realized one of the biggest reasons why I had such quick success in UGC was because of my creativity. And that is also why I so quickly had huge wins compared to other creators on TikTok Shop. I already had the aesthetic eye and taste to make good content, I just needed someone with more business experience to point me in the right direction. And this combination is what translated directly into me changing my life and making multiple six figures all from my phone. It was just my creativity, focused into the right opportunity.

And this all ties back to my original point:

SUPER average people are making a bunch of money with Tiktok Shop. But If you are a creative of ANY sort, you are in an EXTREMELY good position to start - and you are the exact type of person I want to help (if you think you might be able to make this work).

Now… You Have 2 Options

Option 1 - You take the info i've just shared with you and you either do nothing, or do it all yourself. You spend months figuring out how to make money on TikTok Shop… how to get enough followers for an account… finding the products that work… going through different brands that offer the product and negotiating with them… figuring out why your videos aren't going viral… worrying if the brands will actually pay you once you've done the work… it never ends.

Option 2 - You book a call with Creator's Corner down below and we immediately give you a path to follow (as well as bring you into a community who is positive, ambitious, and pursuing all the exact same goals that you are)... speeding up your time-to-freedom tremendously. We show you how to set up your pages… how to create the content… and not only that, but we already have brands pre-vetted & ready-to-go FOR YOU with custom negotiated payouts. CC members get extra high commissions, because the brands know that if they come from us, they are legit.

Here's the thing. You've already looked at a hundred different hustles to start. You already know that you're meant for more. You already have the creativity. The learning curve for you to make this work is massively in your favor.

You just need to redirect your skills & energy into the right opportunity, and give yourself the chance to live the life you know you dream of.

So If you think you're ready to level up… I want to help YOU make $$ with TikTok Shop

So at this point - you now know how TikTok shop changed my own life & how crazy of an opportunity it is RIGHT NOW to make a bunch of money. You also know how after making it, I moved to my dream city and am able to take travel adventures whenever I want (just like you probably do.) You also know how after making it, I met my friend Astrid and she started having success as well, as someone with zero experience and having no clue what she was doing. Just a willingness to learn

So if YOU are sitting there reading this thinking "dang I could probably do this…" or "this sounds like exactly what I need, Anne… I think i might want to try it…" then you're exactly who I want to help.

If you're someone who considers themselves adventurous & creative and you know that you simply aren't meant to live a regular 9-5 life and are actually serious about doing so… then watch this next video, schedule your free interview with someone from the Creator's Corner team, and let's see if you’re a good fit to do this too.

No pressure. Just a real convo.

Hope to see you inside
